Norton Detected a Threat

If Norton detects a threat on your computer, don’t panic. You should allow Norton to quarantine or remove the detected file immediately. This helps prevent any damage to your device or personal information.

For step-by-step assistance, or if you’re unsure about the detected threat, you can call our toll-free support line at +1 844 602=2796. Our team can guide you through safely handling the threat.

After the threat is handled, it’s a good idea to run a full Norton scan to make sure your system is completely secure. If you encounter any issues during the scan or removal process, call +1 844 602=2796 for immediate help.

Tips:

Do not open or run the file flagged by Norton.

Keep Norton updated to prevent future threats.

If your system still feels slow or unusual, call +1 844 602=2796 for additional support.
